LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This meeting was planned on and is being presented from unceded territories of various Indigenous, Native American, and First Nations peoples. We humbly offer gratitude and respect to the elders, past and present citizens of these tribes, and to all indigenous peoples that are historically and contemporarily tied to the lands that make up what is now called the United States.

Empowering Comprehensive Care: Recruiting & Retaining the Integrated Care Team

Date: Oct. 31, 2023

Established in 2006, the National Center for Medical-Legal Partnership (NCMLP) leads education, research, and technical assistance efforts to help every health organization in the United States leverage legal services as a standard part of the way they respond to social needs.

Learning Objectives

Gain a clear understanding of the reciprocal relationship between medical and legal collaboration within health centers.

2

Understand the value of medical-legal partnerships as a recruitment and retention strategy aimed at mitigating burnout, increasing satisfaction, and strengthening whole-person care.

3

Understand how medical-legal partnerships can address complex patient needs and navigate legal barriers to health, thereby fostering improved outcomes for both patients and healthcare professionals alike.

What is the Medical-Legal Partnership (MLP) Approach?

Civil legal aid is the assistance of counsel and legal advocacy for people living at or near poverty in legal matters that fall outside of the criminal justice system.

Medical-Legal Partnership (MLP) is an intervention where legal and health care professionals collaborate to help patients resolve social, economic, and environmental factors that contribute to health disparities and have a remedy in civil law.

The MLP approach is a flexible, evidence-based, public health, and social justice intervention designed to meet the needs of the community.

Core MLP activities include:

Legal Assistance

to address patients' social needs & help the health center workforce operate at "top of license"

Training

to build knowledge, capacity & skills that strengthen the health center workforce's response to SDOH

Clinic-Level Changes

that leverage legal expertise to shape clinical practices to address many patients' needs at once

Policy Change Strategies

that advance healthy regulatory, administrative, & legislative policy solutions for whole communities

Types of legal services

| MLP Activity | Description |
|-------------------------------------|--|
| Facilitated Referral | A “warm hand-off” of a patient’s legal care by the MLP legal team to another provider of free legal services. MLP staff person may spend a significant amount of time ensuring the referral is successful. |
| Clinic-level change activity | Opportunities to engage in activities that will lead to changes in the clinic’s policies or procedures. Opportunities grow out of trends seen in case consultations and patient referrals. Activities seek to implement quality improvement initiatives and/or increase MLP capacity by identifying solutions that can be accessed for all patients without needing to make individual referrals to the MLP. |
| Policy-level change activity | Upstream strategies pursued by the health care and legal teams to address regulatory, administrative, or legislative policies that can help more people,, and in the best case scenario, prevent problems from occurring or becoming acute and advance health equity. |

Impact of MLP: One of the only interventions that can identify, address and prevent individual needs AND underlying policies

Training activities and direct legal services help health centers address individuals' legal needs.

When a landlord refuses to make improvements to an apartment with mold, an MLP lawyer can enforce safe housing laws to get the mold removed.

By detecting patterns in patients' needs and using upstream strategies to target unhealthy policies, MLPs prevent future problems and advance health equity.

An MLP team works together to change their city's lead ordinance to prevent children from being lead poisoned at home.

Impact of MLP: Team members can address health-related social needs while working at “top of license”

HERE'S HOW

A FAMILY OF 4

is struggling to make rent after one Mom is unable to work during her cancer treatment.

A Community Health Worker

can help the patient fill out applications, pull documents together, and may go to benefits office with her.

A Case Manager / Social Worker

may work with the patient to determine what housing, disability, insurance, and food benefits she is eligible for. They write support letters and gather medical documentation as needed.

A Lawyer

may advise the patient about the Family Medical Leave Act and job protections to help ensure her job is waiting for her after treatment. They can help CHWs and case managers understand benefit eligibility and problem-solve as needed. They may assist the patient with appeals if benefits are denied.

Health Center Adoption of the Medical-Legal Partnership Approach

Health Centers have Embraced Medical-Legal Partnership

In 2014, HRSA recognized civil legal aid as an “enabling service” – allowing health centers to include these services under the Section 330 (PHSA) federal grants.

Health centers became the fast-growing sector for MLP adoption.

Why? They:

- Have substantial knowledge of communities they serve
- Serve and provide care to most vulnerable and underserved communities

Medical-Legal Partnerships in Health Centers

A medical-legal partnership (MLP) is an intervention that embeds civil legal aid professionals within a health care organization to address health-harming social issues that have remedies in civil law. This is commonly implemented through an arrangement known as a memorandum of understanding (MOU) or other agreement with a civil legal aid organization or other pro bono services to facilitate the provision of legal services to patients.

This environmental scan presents up-to-date information¹ about MLPs operating in Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) and Look-Alike² programs (referred to as 'health centers' throughout). Health centers were created under Section 330 of the Public Health Service Act and are administered by the Health

- There are approximately
 - 150 to 200 MLPs operating in health centers
 - An additional 100 to 150 in the planning stages
- MLPs in health centers are in at least 27 states across the country including DC and US territories

How Health Centers Address their Patient's HealthRelated Legal Needs

- A majority of health centers that responded to the environmental scan reported screening for legal needs (72%) and referring patients to civil legal aid (63%)
- Health centers with an MLP were more likely to offer screening and referral services

Most health centers address their patient's health-related legal needs through screening and referrals

|--|------------|
| Health centers that screen patients for potential health-harming legal needs | 72% |
| Health centers that refer patients with health-harming legal needs to civil legal services | 63% |

Health centers with an MLP are more likely to offer screening and referral services for their patients

We Create Healthy Communities

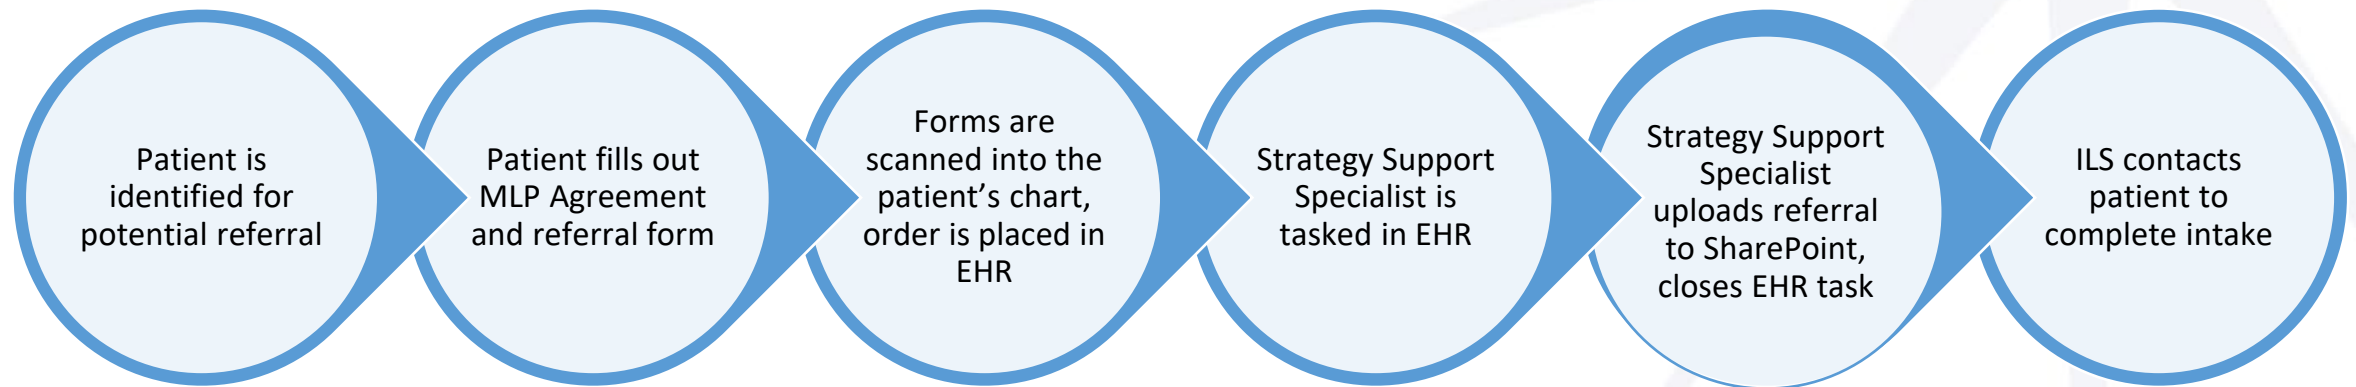

How does it work?

- A civil legal aid attorney is embedded within the health care team.*
- Attorneys train healthcare providers to identify health-harming social legal needs.*
- Attorneys advise and represent patients and their families to address their needs.*

This program differs from the basic referral process managed by Indiana Legal Services due to the critical factor of integrating legal services as part of the medical treatment. The Attorney is a part of the medical team like a nurse, medical assistant, or provider.

Making a Referral

Understanding The Referral

An informational form is available for patients to take home.

This sheet provides information on the process and what to expect next. It is available in both English and Spanish.

Your Referral EXPLAINED

YOUR COMMUNITY HEALTH CENTER®

Your information has been sent to HealthLinc and Indiana Legal Services' Medical-Legal Partnership.

What is a medical-legal partnership (MLP)?
An MLP is when a medical practice like HealthLinc works with a legal partner like Indiana Legal Services. The MLP program is separate from Indiana Legal Services and exists through HealthLinc. Both HealthLinc and Indiana Legal Services work together to help patients like you with unmet legal needs that can have a negative impact on your health.

Does it cost anything?
The program provides free legal aid if you meet Indiana Legal Services requirements and your case is accepted. You just need to be a HealthLinc patient to access the service. If you are not a HealthLinc patient, you are welcome to become one or to go through the Indiana Legal Services application process.

What information do you need?
To complete the referral process, we will need your name, date of birth, patient number, a brief description concerning your legal problem, and an updated phone number and address. You will need to sign our release of information form so we can share your information with our legal team. Please also indicate if it is safe for our team to leave a voicemail concerning your referral.

What kind of cases does the MLP accept?
The MLP generally accepts civil cases such as those involving family law, landlord-tenant disputes, housing, citizenship, employment, consumer issues, and denial of government benefits. We do not accept criminal cases.

What comes next?

- Within the next two days you will get a call from a phone number with either a (574) or (269) area code. This person will be an Indiana Legal Services staff member. They will conduct an initial interview over the phone. Please set aside 20-30 minutes to complete this phone call. This interview is to see if you qualify for their services and if your problem is one a lawyer can help with.
- If your case is accepted, the attorney who will handle your case will contact you.
- This process can take up to two weeks.

What if I can't complete the initial interview by phone?
If you are unable to access a phone, please let your HealthLinc provider know so we can work out a situation while still in clinic. We will do everything we can to ensure your access to proper care.

“Our mission is to promote better health outcomes by addressing the legal and social needs of patients and families.”

“Having an attorney in our back pocket makes a huge difference because we can ask questions about the social circumstances under which our kids and their families are living, and we can actually act on the answers. This makes everybody’s job easier because social determinants of health are the elephant in the room.”

Dr. Brian Johnston, Founding Partner of MLP

HARBORVIEW
MEDICAL CENTER

“I have learned a whole set of pragmatic advocacy skills through MLP. I now know how to write an effective letter to a landlord and how to speak to people who are in a position of decision-making in organizations and state agencies. It’s really important because providers spend a lot of time doing paperwork and coordinating care, and that limits the amount of face-to-face time we spend with patients.”

Dr. Ben Danielson, Founding Partner of MLP

“From the beginning of developing an MLP in the northwest we have been strategic about the need to build a solid and successful infrastructure with critical partnerships that could enable us to build on and expand services. This vision has served us well. We have successfully branched out to serve adults as well as children, and continue to magnify our reach throughout the state.”

Carol Jenkins, Founding Partner of MLP

“Patients go to see their doctor once a year, not their attorney. The fact that we connect these two areas – law and medicine – creates a critical link for patients who don’t know how to access legal help. It’s a natural connection that results in healthier people.”

MLP's Tiered Response

A Patients-to-Policy Story

Washington MedicalLegal Partnership

FROM PATIENTS-TO-POLICY

Children on ventilators were unable to leave Seattle Children's Hospital due to a home-nursing shortage caused by low Medicaid reimbursement rates. The Washington Medical-Legal Partnership sued the Healthcare Authority regarding insufficient at-home nursing. The lawsuit and other advocacy resulted in an increased Medicaid nursing reimbursement rate allowing kids to return home and significantly reduced length of stay.

A Patient's Story - Avoiding Eviction for a Family

- Patient with significant developmental and intellectual disabilities required 24-hour care and supervision. Patient has behavioral insomnia and often stomps around the apartment and/or shouts throughout the night.
- Due to noise complaints from neighbors, family has had to move frequently. They have lived in four homes in the past six years.
- Parents emigrated to the U.S. from Somalia. Mother does not read or write and speaks little English. Patient has six siblings.
- Property manager attempted to evict the family due to annual income verification being reported incorrectly (although family was still within the income limits).
- Odessa Brown Children's Clinic (OBCC) wrote a letter to the landlord advocating that the family be permitted to remain in the apartment until they could relocate. When the landlord declined, OBCC referred the case to MLP.
- MLP assisted by working with the property manager and negotiated additional time in the apartment. In addition, MLP negotiated a mutual termination that would allow the family to move out, preserve their housing voucher and avoid eviction.

Discussion

What is your MLP's approach to screening for social needs?

Three general approaches:

All patients, specific social need

Example

The most common unresolved social needs among the health center's patients pertain to housing*, so MLP resources are focused there. Any clinician or staff member can refer any patient to the MLP lawyer for assistance with evictions, housing conditions, housing subsidies, etc. The health center may or may not choose to expand to other issues in the future.

This could also be access to public benefits, access to educational supports, etc.*

Specific patient population, all social needs

Example

The health center's needs assessment reveals that pregnant people* would benefit most from legal services. Any clinician or staff member can refer any pregnant person to the MLP lawyer for any identified social need. The health center may or may not choose to expand to other groups in the future.

This could also be children with asthma, individuals experiencing homelessness, people who use behavioral health services, people with substance use disorders, socially vulnerable older adults, people with diabetes, transgender individuals, etc.*

All patients, all social needs

Example

Any clinician or staff member can refer any health center patient to the MLP lawyer for any identified social need.

How has the MLP changed or affected your workflow?

What advice would you offer to social work professionals or other health care staff about MLP?

Legal Assistance

to address patients' social needs & help the health center workforce operate at "top of license"

Training

to build knowledge, capacity & skills that strengthen the health center workforce's response to SDOH

Clinic-Level Changes

that leverage legal expertise to shape clinical practices to address many patients' needs at once

Policy Strategies

that a health center admin can leverage legislative solutions to address community health needs

What advice would you offer to other civil legal services providers about the MLP approach?

Legal Assistance

to address patients' social needs & help the health center workforce operate at "top of license"

Training

to build knowledge, capacity & skills that strengthen the health center workforce's response to SDOH

Clinic-Level Changes

Policy Strategies

The Bottom Line:

Lawyers help patients address urgent social needs that are barriers to health.

Offering legal services at or through a health center allow access to services in a trusted environment.

Health centers leverage legal expertise to shape clinical practices and inform clinic-wide solutions that help address many patients' needs without a referral to the lawyer.
